

MARIAN UNIVERSITY

Master of Science in HEALTH CARE ADMINISTRATION

Create change within Health Care

Offered 100% online in 7 week classes, the MSHCA was designed by experts to help adults advance their careers.

By taking 10 focused, three-credit courses, you will develop the business acumen, policy and political savvy to thrive in today's health care industry. Featuring a timely curriculum in which learning and development are supported through relevant, work-related projects and initiatives, you'll emerge with improved job knowledge and a better understanding of what it takes to get to where you want to be.

Embedded experiential learning will help you develop the necessary skills and competencies to achieve professional success, and in the final two courses you'll engage in a project or initiative to demonstrate the skills you've mastered by entering the program.

Our graduates will demonstrate...

- Critical thinking skills as a guide to intellectual integrity and empathy.
- A high level of metacognitive awareness.
- Communication skills that meet the needs of the profession, including verbal and nonverbal communication, and professional writing, presentation and facilitation skills.
- A range of design-thinking strategies to help further develop empathy and deepen their understanding of overcoming barriers.

How you'll learn

New students may choose to start taking the 10 three-credit courses in fall, spring or summer. Courses are 100% online and last seven weeks, allowing for a completion time of 18 months or less.

In Demand

The U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics reports that Health Care Administrator positions will grow 18% through 2028, with a median salary of $99,530. The growth will continue as retirements increase and make it difficult to keep pace with the job demand.

Is an MS in HCA right for me?

If you're already working in health care and are wanting to advance your career and salary potential, then yes. An MS in HCA is also a great next step for anyone already working in finance, management, human resources, marketing, nursing administration, public health, and more. Through our 100% online, seven-week classes, you'll gain the knowledge you need to serve as an innovative, transformative, ethical health care leader — in just 18 months or less.
